Lebanese Doctors and Students in France Are Helping Develop a COVID-19 Cure

In France, at the forefront of the race to develop a cure for COVID-19, stands a group of Lebanese doctors and medical students. They are part of the team of French Physician and Microbiologist Didier Raoult, who is currently heading the search for a cure.

A video that recently went viral on social media shows French President Emmanuel Macron, alongside Professor Raoult, talking to the team and asking each of them about their nationalities.

As he reached the Lebanese members with his question, and they answered "Liban," President Macron was visibly amused. A significant number of Raoult's team members are Lebanese doctors and medical students. Read more
