Severe Storm in the Mountains? Check How to be Served at IPT Stations during the Storm

A snowstorm hit our country last week along with heavy winds and torrential rain falls. It was the coldest storm to hit Lebanon this year with snow falling at altitudes as low as 600 meters in some areas.

Along with the dip in winter temperatures, the fuel efficiency of your car drops during colder months. Tests show that when temperatures drop by 15C, a car's gas mileage drops by nearly 12%.

Through experience in high altitudes, IPT Stations owners come together from different regions to share some tips with you, ensuring your vehicle runs more efficiently this winter while also saving energy. Click here to check how IPT Stations can serve you during the storm.

Oil Jumps almost 4% as Output Slow to Recover from Texas Storms

Source: Reuters

Oil prices rose nearly 4% on Monday, boosted by the expected slow return of U.S. crude output after last week's deep freeze in Texas shut in production. U.S. producers shut anywhere from 2 million to 4 million barrels per day of oil output due to cold weather in Texas and other oil producing states, and the unusually cold conditions may have damaged installations that could keep output offline longer...
